INDEX.

A.

Abraham, the caſe of his ſacrificing his ſon conſidered 226

Addreſs, a further, to the people, &c. that pamphlet cenſured, 178. Two very ſingular addreſſes, the deſign of this pamphlet 184

Adventurer, a character of that work, 315. Its authors 322

Ænigma, a curious one, with various interpretations 520, 521

Africa, a poetical deſcription of the eaſtern coaſt of 413

Agaric, an account of, ſome obſervations upon, by Mr. Neal 475

Age, the real character of, in anſwer to Dr. Brown, ſome account of, with extracts 532, 536

Agincourt, the battle of, deſcribed 483—487

Air, its great uſe in vegetation 107, 108

An Alarm to the people of England, ſome account and character of that performance 94

Alfred, King, a character of 454

America, North, a review of the military operations there 47

Anderſon, Mr. his remonſtrance againſt Lord Bolingbroke's philoſophy cenſured 432, 436

Animadverſionum Criticarum, ſome account of 554

Antigallican, or hiſtory of Mr. Cobham, its character 477

——— privateer, a hiſtory of &c. ſome account of that performance 472

Apparition, or Female Cavalier, the plan of that work, 31. Its character 34

Appeal to the people, part II. its character 478

Architecture, French, ſome account of 462

Aretino Petro, a ſevere epitaph upon him 530

Argonautic expedition, a poetical deſcription of 406

Arioſto, a famous Italian poet, ſome account of 38

Arithmetic, the hiſtory of the ſigns of 465

Artillery, a treatiſe of, the deſign and ſubſtance of that work 513—516

Aſtronomy, a general and particular hiſtory of, an account of that work 464

Aubigne, Agrippa, his remarkable hiſtory 348, 349

Auguſtus, King of Poland, his character 280

Auſberg, an academy of ſciences lately erected there 82

The Author, a comedy, by Mr. Foot, the plan and character of 151—153

B.

Bankrupts, hardſhips in their caſe conſidered 184

Baptiſm, the nature and deſign of, its character, and extracts from 437, 438

Baretti, Mr. his Italian library, ſome account of, 34—41. His advice to Engliſh travellers, 36. His language cenſured 40

Bath, epiſtles from, a character and ſpecimen of, 187, 188. Reflections on the uſes and abuſes of Bath waters, a character

racter of, with ſeveral extracts from 415—420
Beauty, as diſtinguiſhed from the ſublime, reflexions on 366—370
Of Beauty, to the Earl of ——— 554
Bees, a curious remark concerning 7
Beliſarius, engraved by Mr. Strange, its character 479
Birch, Dr. his hiſtory of the Royal Society, vol. 3. and 4. a caracter of, with extracts 124—136
Blacklock, Mr. conſidered as a poet, tho' blind 371
Blenheim houſe, a deſcription of 303, 304
Blindneſs, periodical, a remarkable caſe of 543
Boar, a remarkable connexion between the tuſks and ſtones of 6, 7
Boccacio, a great improver of the Italian language 37
Bolingbroke, an analyſis of his philoſophy, a character of, 465. See Anderſon.
Bononian ſtone, a deſcription of 522, 523
Boſcowick's modern philoſophy, the plan of, with ſome extracts 459—462
Bower, Mr. his anſwer to a ſcurrilous pamphlet, an abſtract of, and remarks upon, 41—49. Bower and Tillemont compared, the deſign of, with a ſpecimen, and remarks, 50—57. His anſwer to a new charge, extracts from, with remarks, 57—61. The ſecond part of his anſwer to a ſcurrilous pamphlet, &c. 144—150. His proofs by falſe facts that the letters are forged, 144, 145. Other proofs from falſe dates, 146. Remarks on theſe defences, ibid. 148, 149. His cenſure of the Critical Review anſwered, 150. Appendix againſt his appendix 190—192. A full confutation of the facts advanced in his three defences, 268—274. His account of the inquiſition falſified, 269. A certificate againſt him from a notary at Rome, ibid. Convicted of untruth in regard to Mr. Folkes, ibid. His ignorance and prevarication about the pope's ſupremacy, 270. His arguments to ſhew the forgery of the letters expoſed, ibid. Detected of a groſs impoſture about St. Botolph's annuities, ibid. Remarkable proofs that the letters are genuine, in a letter from Sir Henry Bedingfield, 271. His connexions with the Jeſuits proved, 272. Mr. Sheldon's teſtimony concerning the letters, ibid. A ſeventh letter from him to father Sheldon, 273. Mrs. Hoyle's certificate againſt him, 274. Remarks on the whole, ibid.
Breſcia, Notizie, ſome account of that book 548
Breſciano Patrizio Rime, ſome account of 548
Brewery, account of its riſe and progreſs 283
Britons, antient, a deſcription of 451, 453
Buildings, reflexions on the effects of the different forms of 365, 366
Bull, a remarkable obſervation on, 7. How different from an ox 16
Burrington, Mr. his anſwer to Dr.

Dr. Brakenridge's account of the inhabitants of London 473, 474

C.

Caledonii, whence derived 197, 198
Campagne de 1756, account of that pamphlet 86
Charles I. King, account of his catastrophe, 490. Consequences of it, 492, 493. His character 493, 494
——— II. some account of him and his ministers 497—499
——— XII. of Sweden, some account of, 278. His character by Voltaire, 279. His interview with the Countess of Konigsmark ibid.
Cheese, Parmesan, some account of 524, 525
Children, directions for the right management of 80, 81
Chinese philosopher, a letter from, the design of, with a specimen 466
Chymistry, its use in husbandry 107
Clement, Jacques, assassinates Henry III. of France 85
Clock and Watch making, account of a treatise upon 463
Cloth, wool fittest for different kinds of 19
Colborne, Mrs. account of her using Bath waters 416, 417
Connoisseur compared with other periodical papers, 314. Several extracts from, 316—322. Character of, 315, 322. The authors of 322
Corn, a new method proposed of preserving it in granaries 13, 14
Cornara grammatica Italiana, account of 554
Cows, some curious remarks concerning 16
Critical Review, vindication of against the Evening Advertiser, 96. Against Mr. Bower, 150, 190, 192. Against Mess. N—— 383, 384, 480
Cromwell, Oliver, some account of, 494, 495. His character 495, 496
Crooke, Mrs. her remarkable physical case 26—29
Cuckow-Spittle, what 20

D.

Deafness, a singular cure for 227
Decker, Sir Matthew, his scheme laid open, the design and character of this piece 472
Deity, absurd notions of them by different sects 101
Demosthenes, the design of his orations, 239. Vindicated from aspersions thrown on him by Plutarch, 242, 243. The subjects of the orations contained in the first volume, 243. Extracts from Mr. Francis's translation of them, 244—252. More extracts, with remarks, and a character of them 306—314
Denmark, account of trees produced there, 131, 132. Fruits, herbs, and roots, 132, 133. Grain, cattle, fowls, and fish, 133. Wild fowl, deer, and other game, ibid. 134. Winter, and the effects of the frost, 134—136
Dikes, the great advantages of earthen dikes for manure 108
A Discourse on a national force in England, that pamphlet much commended 83
Dissertations by Mr. Hume, account of, with extracts 97—107, 209—216
——— physical and literary, some ſome account of, and abſtracts from 463, &c.

Douglas, a tragedy, ſome account of its dedication, 97, 258. The ſubject of, with ſpecimens and remarks 259—267. Its character, 258, 259. Analayſed, a character of 287, 288
Dreſſes, a collection of different nations, its character 467
Dropſy, a remarkable caſe of one 545
Drowned perſons, a method of reviving ſuch as have been ſo for many hours 125
Dulneſs, the age of, a character and ſome ſpecimens of that performance 87, 88
Dumb, a remarkable account of a dumb man 349, 350
Du Pleſſis's memoirs, a character of that work, 113. The plan of it ibid.—118

E.

Eaſt Indies, a new hiſtory of, this work partly a tranſlation from the French, 62. The ſeveral parts of it, ibid.—69. The ſubſtance of the continuation, 69—74. Account of the exports to India, 70. The imports from thence, ibid.—72. Profit and loſs on a voyage to India, 72, 73. The national account of a voyage to India, 74. Character of the work, ibid.
Education, reflexions on the defects of the modern 505—508
Edward I. a character of 438
Effeminence, the ill conſequences of 339, 340
Electricity, account of, a cure performed by it 543
Elegies by Mr. Whitehead, ſome extracts from, 136—138. A character of 139
Elſineur, in Zealand, ſome obſervations concerning it 130
England, a complete hiſtory of, by Dr. Smollett, a plan of, 449—451. Extracts from, 451—458. The frontiſpieces explained, 481. Remarks upon the work, ibid.—483. More extracts from, 483—499
Enquiry, philoſophical, into the origin of our ideas of the ſublime and beautiful, a plan and character of, 361. Several extracts from, with remarks 362—374
Euclid's data reſtored by Mr. Jack, cenſured 20—24
Evil, a free inquiry into the nature and origin of, its plan, with a character, and extracts 439—448

F.

Fear, ſome account of that paſſion 209
Fever, the hiſtory of a ſingular recovery from one 539, 540
The Fleece, a poem, a character of, with ſeveral extracts from 402—415
Forli, a new academy there, ſome account of 549
Fortification and beſieging, ſome directions concerning 332—335
Fox, George, the founder of the quakers, ſome account of 497
Francis, Mr. See Demoſthenes.
French, ſome remarks on their manners 342
Froſt in Denmark, its effects 134—136
Fruit-trees, directions concerning them, 18, 19. What kinds kinds produced in Zealand 132

G.

Galileo, the famous aſtronomer, ſome anecdotes concerning him 35

Glouceſter, ſtate of the caſe relating to the commotions there, &c. the deſign and character of that pamphlet 186

Gout, a remarkable caſe of, 540. The compoſition of Portland's powder for the gout and rheumatiſm, 544. Another remedy for the gout 545

Gowry, account of his conſpiracy againſt king James VI. of Scotland 291—300

Granaries, about Paris, ſome account of, 10,11. A new method of making granaries propoſed 11—14

Greece, ſome account of its antient political ſtate 240

Greens, method of preſerving them at ſea 510,511

Grief, ſome reflections on 361

H.

Harry, Mrs. her curious phyſical caſe 29

Heathcot, Mr. his reply to Dr. Patten's apology 217—230

Heauton-Timoroumenos of Terence, an occaſional prologue and epilogue to 74—78

Hedges, directions concerning quick-hedges 17,18

Heerman, Dr. account of a book lately publiſhed by him 173

Henry II. king, a character of 456,457

—— IV. his character 488

—— V. his behaviour at the battle of Agincourt, 484—487. His character, 487,488

Highlanders, Scotch, their origin 194

Hiſtory of the wars of the North, &c. by a French ambaſſador, the ſubject of, with ſome extracts from this work 277—282

Homer, a curious edition of at Glaſgow, account of 550

Hope, ſome account of that paſſion 209

Hops, the beſt how to chuſe, 15. Directions concerning hop-poles ibid. 16

Horace, the 10th epiſtle of the firſt book of, imitated, a character of 89

Hume, Mr. his diſſertation on the natural hiſtory of religion, ſome account of, 97—107. On the paſſions, 209. On tragedy, 212. On the ſtandard of taſte, 213—216. His character of the tragedy of Douglas, 258. Remarks on his eſſay 398—401

Hungary, the E. Q. of, her anſwer to the motives of the K. of Pruſſia, &c. 153

Huſbandry, why much neglected in England, 1. Different according to the different climates, 2. Some of the beſt writers in it antient and modern, ibid. 3. Advantages attending the ſtudy of it, 3—6. Several enemies of huſbandry, 19, 20. Experiments in huſbandry recommended 112

Hydrops Peritonæi, a remarkable caſe of 536

J.

Jaw-lock'd, how cured 536, 541

Jeſuits, account of, ſent on the miſſion in America 171

Infinity, ſome reflections on, 364, 365

Inſects, a curious obſervation on their breathing 7, 8
Iron, the importation of from N. America recommended 85
Italian language, a ſhort hiſtory of it, 36. By whom firſt and moſt improved ibid. 40
Juſtiniani, Laurentii, a new edition of his works 548

K.

Keyſler, Mr. his travels, vol. 3d, a character of, with ſeveral extracts 516—532
Knights bubbled, &c. a character of 187

L.

Labor, a recommendation of 409
Lambs, directions concerning them 17
Languages, the affinity of, not a ſufficient proof of the deſcent of one nation from another 19
Laurence, a great encourager of learned men in Italy 37
Letter, a ſecond to the duke, the ſubject of, 85. Concerning public diverſions, 172. To the R. H. L. A——, that performance cenſured, 179. From a merchant of London to the R. H. W. P——, &c. ſpecimen and character of, 186. To lord Robert Bertie, &c. the deſign and character of, 283, 284. From a Chineſe philoſopher, 466. Of abuſe to D. G——, Eſq; character of, 471. To an officer in the army on travelling on Sunday, account and extract of 555
Letters concerning taſte, vindicated, 421. A character and ſpecimens of, ibid.—428. A ſeries of between Henry and Frances, a character of, with extracts, 428—432. Satirical, by Mr. Rabner, a character of, with extracts, 499—508
Lime, how to be uſed in manuring 108
Lind, Dr. his eſſay on the health of ſeamen, extracts from, with remarks 508—513
Liſbon reſtored, a character of that poem 472
Liſle, Mr. author of the obſervations on huſbandry, ſome account of 3
Liver, a remarkable caſe of a worm bred in it 542
Loiſirs Philoſophiques, the deſign and character of that book 171, 172
London, number of its inhabitants, how computed 473, 474
Lorenzo, epiſtles to, extracts from, with a character 162—167
Loretto, the caſa ſanta, or holy houſe of, an account of 517, 518
Love and friendſhip, a character of that work 476, 477
Luxury, lady Allured, the trial of, its character 478

M.

Mad animals, a method of treating perſons bit by them 92, 93
Maintenon, Madam, her birth in the moſt wretched circumſtances, 350. Education and marriage, 351. Her widowhood, and a prediction of her future grandeur, 353. Her introduction and marriage to the king, 354—357. Her great charity, and excellent character ibid. 360
Maitland, Mr. his hiſtory of Scotland, a general character of, 193. See Scotland.
Manners and principles of the times, an eſtimate of, the ſcheme ſcheme and deſign of this work, 338. Some extracts from, 339—345. Its character and defects 345,346

Marl, its nature and uſes in manuring 108
Marriage, a congratulatory letter on 425
Mary, virgin, a picture of by St. Luke, with an inſcription 530
—— Magdalen, the fine cave of deſcribed 531
Medical obſervations and inquiries a character of, with ſeveral ſpecimens 536—547
Memoirs of a young lady of quality, a Platoniſt, the ſubject of this work, with extracts, 252—258. A character of 258
Merit true, true happineſs, a character, with ſpecimens of that work 467—469
Metaſtaſio, account of a new edition of his poetical works 375
Militia, reflections previous to the eſtabliſhment of, the deſign and character of this pamphlet, 179, 180. Eſſay on the expediency of a national, a character of, with extracts 180,181
Miniſtry, the conduct of the late, &c. ſome remarks on 383
Miracles, not a ſufficient proof of divinity, independent of the doctrines confirmed by them 222—225
Modeſty, the revolutions of, with the reign of pleaſure, the deſign of this piece, with extracts and a character of, 160—162
Moguls, ſome account of their empire 68
Morals, an eſſay on, ſome account of 463,464
Muller. See Artillery.
Muzio, Jeronimo, an Italian writer, ſome account of, 54,55
Mythology, antient, the abſurdity of 100

N.

N——, memoirs of Miſs Katty's, ſome account of, with a character 157
Naylor, James, an enthuſiaſt, account of 497
Newcomb, Mr. his poem on the night from Mr. Harvey's contemplations commended, with ſpecimens 118
Nitrous ſalt, its exiſtence in the earth proved, 110, 111. Its great uſe in vegetation, ib. 124

O.

Oak trees, more liable to be burnt by lightning than others 131,132
Obizzi, the marchioneſs of, her tragical hiſtory and epitaph 526,527
The Oculiſt, a dramatic entertainment, ſome account of 554
Ode, an irregular, on his Majeſty's ſhip Deptford, on bringing home Gen. Blakeney, an extract from 288
Optical experiments made at ſea, an account of 128
Orlando Furioſo, account of a new Engliſh tranſlation, with ſeveral ſpecimens 385—398
Oxen, directions concerning them 16

P.

Paintings, a method of preſerving 227
Parma, account of a vaſt theatre there 523
Peter, Czar of Muſcovy, ſome account of 281
Petrarca, Franciſco, an Italian poet, poet, an anecdote concerning 37

Philip St. fort, account of the ſiege and ſurrender of, 177, 178
Picts, antient inhabitants of Scotland, ſome account of 200, 201
Piemont, an eſſay on the moſt curious plants of 374
Pigeons dung, as a manure, obſervations on 109
Plays, ſtage, cenſured, 172, 275. Whether it is lawful for Chriſtians to go to them 470
Poetry, ſeveral reflections on 370—374
Pope, Mr. a ſupplement to his works, the contents of, 300, 301. A character and ſeveral ſpecimens of, 301—306. Why not publiſhed by Mr. Warburton ibid.
Popes, the hiſtory of, tranſlated from the French, its character, 469. Compared with that of Mr. Bower ibid.
Probity, a man of, deſcribed, 502—505
Providence, a diſcourſe concerning, by Dr. Stebbing, the ſubſtance and character of, 89—92. Arguments for a governing providence, 89, 90. A remarkable inſtance of a directing providence, 91. A dream on the ſuperintending goodneſs of providence, 427, 428
Pruſſia, K. of, a reſcript of the Empreſs Q. to her miniſters at foreign courts againſt him, 153. Complaints againſt his conduct to the royal family of Poland, ibid. 154. Anſwers to his motives or declaration of war, 155. Remarks on his declarations, circular reſcripts and memorials, ibid. Several infringements of the peace committed by him, 156. Pruſſian ſyſtem, the deſign and extracts of that pamphlet, 182, 183. Vindication of the courts of Vienna and Dreſden againſt him 474, 475
Putrefaction of vegetable and animal ſubſtances, obſervations on, 109. Its great uſe in vegetation ibid.
Public ſpirit, the fall of, character of that piece 554

Q.

Quakers, their origin and follies 497
Queries, on the minutes of the council of war at Gibraltar, &c. the deſign of that pamphlet 185, 186

R.

Rabner, Mr. his ſatirical letters, ſome account of, with extracts 499—508
Rambler, a character of that work, 315. Its author 322
Rams, the fight of, deſcribed 403
Ravillac, Francis, his murdering the K. of France, and his execution 84
Religion, a natural hiſtory of, by Mr. Hume, ſome account of, 97. The origin of religion, 99, 104. Character of the natural hiſtory of religion, 106, 107. The uſe of reaſon in matters of religion aſſerted 218, &c.
Repriſal, See Tars.
Reſurrection of the body or fleſh, no where aſſerted in Scripture, 145. Some paſſages referred to as containing it, explained, 146. When firſt brought into the Creed, ibid. The bad conſequences of it ibid.

Romans,

Romans, ſome of their tranſactions in Britain, 198. Some account of their walls there, ibid.—200. Roman annals, 376

Rupture, account of a particular kind of, by Mr. Pott, with remarks, 284, 285. A vindication of the remarks, 479, 480

Ruthven. See Gowry.

S.

Sacerdos, parœcialis ruſticus, a character with ſpecimens of that poem 552, 553

Sailor, a natural character of one 159, 160

Sanderſon, a mathematician, tho' blind 371

Sarſaparilla, its efficacy in the cure of the lues venerea 545—547

Saxe, Field-marſhal Count, his memoirs of the art of war, the ſubſtance, with extracts, and a character 322—338

Scammony, deſcribed by Dr. Ruſſel 537

Scaramentado, the voyages of, account of 175

Scarfelli's dramatic works, ſome account of 459

Scaron, Monſ. ſome account of, 351—353

School-boy, in politics, a character of that pamphlet 82

Scotland, defects in the hiſtory of, whence, 193. The deſign of Maitland's hiſtory, 194. Some account of the Roman tranſactions there, 198, 199. And of their walls, ibid. The origin of the Scots, 201. Scotland ſometimes called Ireland, 204. The Saxon or Engliſh language by whom introduced into Scotland, 206. Their firſt 39 kings fabulous, 206. Specimen of the value of money in Scotland about 300 years ago, 207—209. A character and cenſure of the ſecond vol. 288, 289. A ſpecimen of it, 291—300

Sculpture, and etching, ſome performances in 173, 174

Sea-engagement, a remarkable one 476

Seamen, method of preſerving the health of, a character and ſpecimen of 508—513

Sermons on the faſt, deſign of, with extracts, 168, 169, 188, 190, 378, 379, 474

Shakeſpear, a viſionary interview at the ſhrine of, extracts from with remarks 176, 177

Sheep, ſome curious obſervations concerning them 17

Shepherd, the great, a ſacred paſtoral, a character and ſpecimens of 381, 382

Slave-trade, reflections on 413

Smith, Mr. account of his curious library 547

Soldier, a method of enliſting them propoſed, 323. Directions as to their clothing, ibid. 324. Their food, ibid. Exerciſe, ibid. Legions, and other diviſions, 326. Manner of charging 327

Staniſlaus, a character of 280

Stephen, king, a character of 456

Sternberg, his letter, complaining of the king of Pruſſia's behaviour to the queen of Poland, 153, 154

Sublime, reflections on its ſources and effects 363, 364

Sun, obſervations on its appearing in an elliptical or oval figure 129, 130

Superſtition, the origin of 104, 105

Swine and hogs, remarks upon 19

Sykes,

Sykes, Dr. his opinion of the reſurrection 141
Sympathy, ſome reflections on, 362

T.

Tamerlane, emperor of the Tartars, ſome account of 66,68
Tars of Old England, a comedy, the plan of, 157—159. Remarks on with extracts 159,160
Tartars, ſome account of their empire 62—68
Taſſo, a celebrated Italian poet, ſome anecdotes concerning 35,39
Taſte, account of Mr. Hume's diſſertation on, 213—216. A deſcription of 422—424
The Taxes, a dramatic entertainment, a character and ſpecimens of 86
Throat, ſore, Huxham's diſſertation on, the ſubſtance and character of 95,96
Times, a modeſt ode, a character and ſpecimen of 380,381
Town, a humorous explanation of, as uſed in an ænigmatical ſenſe 320
Tragedy, Mr. Hume's diſſertation on, 312,313. Some other reflections on 362
Trees, produced in Denmark, account of, 131, 132. And in France 376
Turk, repartee of one to a Catholic prieſt 101

V.

Vain man, a character of 211
Van, Mr. John, his life, plan, and character of 476
Vatican library, account of manuſcripts contained in it 79,80
Ubaldine, a nobleman of Florence, an anecdote concerning 35
Vegetation, ſome curious remarks on 8, 9, 10, 107, 110
Venice, a diſſertation on the conſpiracy of, 282. A dialogue concerning, 527. The ceremony of the marriage of the Doge with the ſea, 528. Several excellent hiſtorians of that republic, 529. An elegant inſcription in praiſe of it ibid.
Viſcera, obſervations on the ſtructure of 375
——— abdominal found in the thorax 537
Voltaire au roi de Pruſſe 78
——— tranſlated into Engliſh, 169,170
Voluptuary, a character of 161,162

W.

War, a treatiſe on the art of, an account of 464
Water, ſalt, why more liable to putrefaction than freſh 130, 131
William, conqueror, a character of 456
Woodward, Dr. his conſultations in phyſic cenſured 24—30
Wool, remarks on 19
Word in time, &c. abſurdity of 82
Words, ſeveral claſſes of, with remarks 370—374
World, a character of that work 31

Z.

Zealand, ſome account of its produce 130—136
Zingis, the firſt kan, or king of Tartary, ſome account of 62—5

The End of the THIRD VOLUME.

XUM